►►► LeMond Custom Builds If you are ready for a whole new machine, choose groups, wheels and parts from the best names in the business; Shimano, Campagnolo, TTT, Selle San Marco, Thomson and Bontrager. Choose your crank length, cassette size, handlebar width and stem length. Saddle model too. After receiving your order, your bike will be shipped within 30 days to the dealer of your choice.

The options are endless. Choose from Shimano Dura-Ace or Ultegra; both available with double or triple chainrings. For those with a European bias, Campagnolo Record and Centaur are also available. Wheels probably have the greatest impact on the ride of the bike, just behind the frame. Choose from the best. The whole line of Bontrager's new wheels are available, including the Race X-Lite Carbon, the pinnacle of racing performance. And since this custom LeMond is just for you, we'll even put your name on it.

▶▶▶ A Tourmalet, despite its reasonable price, is made from Reynolds steel tubing, the same company that has made frame tubing for countless champions. Because it's built with LeMond Geometry, you'll sit in that balanced position we've been mentioning. The Tourmalet rides and handles in a way that riders appreciate for miles down the road. We make them in eight sizes, so you can surely find a perfect fit. Each size has size-specific handlebar width, stem length, and crankarm length. A fit so right, it'll feel custom-made just for you. LeMond Tourmalet bicycles come equipped with Shimano 105 and Tiagra drivetrain components, and your choice of a double or triple crank. Reynolds, Shimano, LeMond Geometry: good company for the years and miles ahead.

►►► For 40 years, the Nevada City Classic has been northern California's most honored race. A lap race through downtown streets where the course either climbs or plummets: no flat sections, no place to rest. Greg LeMond, who lived not far away in Nevada, appeared at the Classic as a Junior in the mid -'70s. He looked about 12 years old, but he cleaned everyone's clocks. As cycling fans say, he stamped his name on the race, and earned his nickname: Le Monster. Nevada City's a perfect name for a LeMond model. Greg imprinted his name on the Nevada City Classic, now he's put Nevada City's name on a LeMond.

●●● Matt Kelly won the '99 World Championships on a LeMond 'cross bike, which is remarkable because we did not make 'cross bikes in 1999. Not for sale anyway. We did build them for racers like Kelly, and for Saturn team riders who raced 'cross in the winter, keeping weight off and kicking their opponents' butts. What does Greg LeMond know about 'cross bikes? Ask Matt Kelly or the Saturns. Or remember LeMond's years of racing and training on Belgian cobbles, on the bread-loaf paving stones of Paris-Roubaix, on old broken-up mining roads in northern California and Nevada. He knows. The LeMond Poprad is a racing bike, with a Reynolds 853 select frame, Avid cantilever brakes, Bontrager bars and stem, Selle San Marco saddle, and STI levers. It's light, responsive and fast. Are there trails a few miles away by road that call to you, but you never ride? Find joy on and off the road with a LeMond.

In the cycling world, this bike may be better known as a 'townie' bike. Not a racer, but fast transportation and just plain fun to ride. Named after the town where Greg LeMond now lives, Wayzata – the road and the bike – is a little bit city, and a little bit country. Exactly the fence this bike is intent to straddle. It's got a racing heritage, with the LeMond 853 Select cyclecross frame, but with a relaxed attitude that finds its own pace. Straight mountain style handlebars let the rider sit up and enjoy the view. Ride it to the store or ride it to the next state- the Shimano 9-speed Tiagra drivetrain and the Bontrager Select wheels will make either an enjoyable trip.
